

Semester 4 [General]

SIR ROGER AT HOME

Write two aspects of Sir Roger's character . [For marks 5]

Ans: Sir Roger de Coverly is the first member of the Spectator's Club. When he is in the town he lives in Soho Square, the centre of fashionable life of London. Though he is fifty six years old he is a bachelor because he was disappointed in love in his youth.

Sir Roger is a great lover of mankind. Because of the comic aspect of his character, he is loved by others rather than respected. On account of his cheerful nature and informal behaviour towards others, he gains others affection. Because of his generosity his tenants grow rich, his servants are satisfied with him, all the young women declare their love for him, and all the young men are glad of his company. He acts as a judge at the sitting of the local court. He has also sound knowledge of law.
